A STROLL TO SAVOR

You don't need to go far for a taste of Italy — Michele Topor's North End Market Tours show you the flavor in Boston's back yard.

As a 35-year resident and trained chef, Topor takes groups of up to 13 people on a walking tour of the area's best salumerias (delis), bakeries and restaurants. "I want to teach people about life in an Italian neighborhood and true Italian ingredients," she says. Learn about seasonal ingredients, how to buy olive oil and choose between pastas, the difference between "Italian" and "Italian-American" and the rich history of this neighborhood.
